

THE NAVAJOS

The Navajos are a proud and happy people.

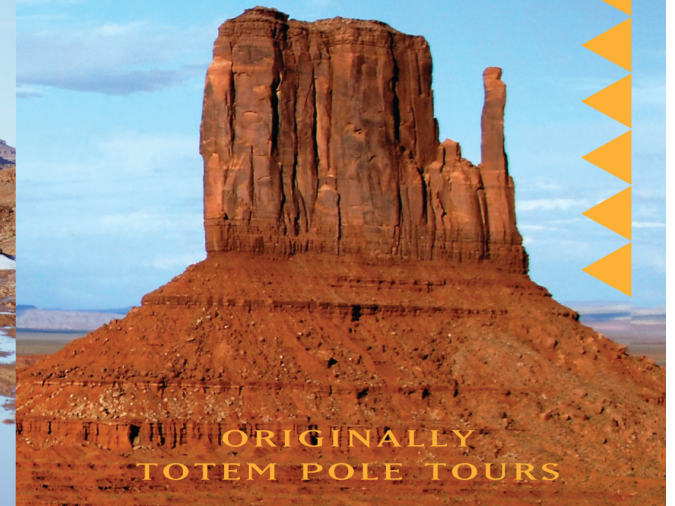

We have survived the onslaught of a different society. The stories are told in hogans of the many obstacles that were overcome by many a Navajo family. Stories and myths that were acquired through generations before, are being revived through books that are written about the Navajos, but there are still countless stories that have been lost because we have no written language.

Monument Valley is a unique place. There is no other place like this on earth. It is a Holy Land for many, and a place of worship for many Medicine Men who still hold their daily rituals here.

Mother Earth is truly a land of wonder. We hope you enjoy the beauty that surrounds us and 'Walk in Beauty with the Navajos'.
